BY THE JUVENILE COURT PROCEDURAL RULES
COMMITTEE:

EXPLANATORY REPORT

These proposed rule modifications address the scope of the juvenile probation officer's authority, as well as, the duties, education, and training of those officers.

In looking at a juvenile probation officer's authority, it has been brought to the Committee's attention that in some judicial districts, juvenile probation officers are considered "duly authorized officers" as used in the Juvenile Act, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6324 while in other judicial districts, juvenile probation officers are not considered "duly authorized officers."

To provide clarity and a uniform procedure, these rule modifications allow the President Judge of each judicial district to determine whether juvenile probation officers should be duly authorized officers in that judicial district. The modifications also mandate minimum training requirements of all probation officers.

Rules 120 and 1120

A new definition for "juvenile probation officer" is being added to this rule. The Comment to this rule further clarifies the definition and outlines what a President Judge may include in a juvenile probation officer's commission.

A President Judge may determine the authority of its probation officers by local rule, or may specifically list the authority granted to specific probation officers or class of probation officers. For example, the President Judge may give more authority to a supervisory juvenile probation officer or to an officer who has completed advanced training.

There are many factors to consider when granting authority to a juvenile probation officer. The Committee believed that the President Judge would be in the best position to determine the authority of juvenile probation officers in his or her judicial district. The current practice in some counties that allows juvenile probation officers to take alleged dependent children into custody may continue to be utilized if the President Judge designates a juvenile probation officer as a duly authorized officer.

Rule 195

This proposed new rule sets forth the authority, duties, and training of juvenile probation officers.

Pursuant to paragraph (A) and its Comment, juvenile probation officers shall have the authority to take children, juveniles, and minors into custody pursuant to the Juvenile Act, Child Protective Services Law (CPSL), bench warrants, and by order of court granting specific authority.

The President Judge may grant the Administrative Judge authority to decide which juvenile probation officers are appropriate duly authorized officers of the court. However, only the President Judge of each judicial district may enact a local rule, which grants authority of a duly authorized officer of the court onto a specific class of probation officers. See Rules 121 and 1121 for promulgation of local rules.

Therefore, if a court order directs that a specific juvenile probation officer is to have the authority of a duly authorized officer, the President Judge or his or her designee may grant that order. The Comment to Rules 121 and 1121 clarify that local rules do not include case-specific orders, which would include individual orders naming specific juvenile probation officers as duly authorized officers of the court.

Paragraph (B) addresses the duties of the juvenile probation officer, which may be limited by the court.

Paragraph (C) requires juvenile probation officers, no later than one year after being appointed or employed, to be educated and trained in the procedures of the Juvenile Act, Rules of Juvenile Court Procedure, and the CPSL. This is the minimal requirement. The Committee believes; however, juvenile probation officers should be educated on a continuing basis in all areas of delinquency practice and law, including specialized training as funding permits.

It is best practice to have all juvenile probation officers trained within the first ninety days of employment; however, this may not be feasible in some judicial districts. As educational and training opportunities become available, all juvenile probation officers should be encouraged to attend.

Rule 800 and 1800

These rules suspend the Juvenile Act only insofar as the Act is inconsistent with this new proposal, which authorizes juvenile probation officers to take children, juveniles, and minors into custody when duly authorized by the court.

Rule 1202

This rule proposes allowing a juvenile probation officer when authorized as a duly authorized officer of the court to take a child into protective custody.

The Comment clarifies that a juvenile probation officer's authority is equivalent to a police officer's duty when removing a child from the home. The juvenile probation officer must protect the child and remove the child safely. The juvenile probation officer must immediately transport the child to the county agency. The county agency will then supervise the child and immediately identify an appropriate placement.

RULE 120. DEFINITIONS

* * *

JUVENILE PROBATION OFFICER is a person who has been appointed by the court or employed by a county's juvenile probation office, who is properly commissioned by being sworn in as an officer of the court to exercise the powers and duties set forth in Rule 195 and the Juvenile Act.

* * *

COMMENT

The term "disposition" includes all final determinations made by the court. A disposition includes a response to an adjudication of delinquency, such as sending the juvenile to a placement facility or placing the juvenile on probation. It also includes other types of final determinations made by the court. Other final determinations include a finding that the juvenile did not commit a delinquent act pursuant to Rule 408(B), a finding that the juvenile is not in need of treatment, rehabilitation, or supervision pursuant to Rule 409(A)(1), dismissing the case "with prejudice" prior to an adjudicatory hearing, or any other final action by the court that closes or terminates the case.

A "juvenile probation officer" is an officer of the court. "Properly commissioned" as used in the definition of a juvenile probation officer includes the swearing in under oath or affirmation and receipt of a document, certificate, or order of the court memorializing the authority conferred upon the juvenile probation officer by the court. In addition, the powers granted by the commission are to be specified by the President Judge of each judicial district.

The President Judge may enact a local rule specifying the authority granted by the commission or that specifically lists the authority granted to specific juvenile probation officers or class of juvenile probation officers. For example, a supervisory juvenile probation officer may have more authority than a new juvenile probation officer, or a juvenile probation officer who has completed specific training may have more authority than officers who have not received training.

As a part of the authority conferred upon the juvenile probation officer, the President Judge of each judicial district or his or her designee may authorize the juvenile probation officer to be a duly authorized officer to take not only delinquent children into custody but perform any other functions designated by court order. This may include taking a child, juvenile, or minor into custody pursuant to a bench warrant or protective custody order, or there are reasonable grounds to believe that the child, juvenile, or minor: 1) is suffering from an illness or injury, or is in imminent danger from his or her surroundings, necessitating removal; or 2) has run away from his parents, guardian, or other custodian. See 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6304(a) and 6324 for authority of a duly authorized officer.

Pursuant to Rule 800, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6324 is suspended only insofar as it is inconsistent with this rule, which authorizes the President Judge of each judicial district to designate whether a juvenile probation officer is a duly authorized officer of the court.

The "official court record" is to contain all court orders, court notices, docket entries, filed documents, evidence admitted into the record, and other court designated documents in each juvenile case. The court may also designate any document to be a part of the record. It does not include items contained in juvenile probation's reports and files unless they are made a part of the official record by being filed with the clerk of courts.

Part (D)(2)
Juvenile Probation Officers

Rule 195. Authority, Duties, and Training of Juvenile Probation Officer

A. Authority of Juvenile Probation Officer. A juvenile probation officer shall have the authority to:

- 1) take children, juveniles, and minors into custody pursuant to the following:
 - a) the Juvenile Act, 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6304 and 6324;
 - b) the Child Protective Services Law (CPSL), 23 Pa.C.S. § 6301 et seq.;
 - c) a bench warrant as set forth in Rules 140, 141, and 1140; or
 - d) an order by the President Judge of each judicial district or his or her designee granting the juvenile probation officer the authority of a duly authorized officer;
- 2) supervise and assist a juvenile placed on probation or a child under the court's protective supervision or care; and
- 3) perform any other functions as designated by the court.

B. Duties of Juvenile Probation Officer. Subject to any limitations imposed by the court, a juvenile probation officer shall:

- 1) receive and examine written allegations unless the District Attorney has elected to receive and approve all written allegations pursuant to Rule 231(B);
- 2) make appropriate referrals for informal adjustment, consent decree, or other diversionary programs;
- 3) file petitions if diversionary programs are not appropriate unless the District Attorney has elected to file all petitions pursuant to Rule 330(A);
- 4) make investigations, reports, including social studies pursuant to Rule 513, and recommendations to the court;
- 5) make appropriate referrals to private and public agencies, psychological or psychiatric providers, drug and alcohol facilities or programs, or any other necessary treatments or programs;

6) communicate to the court and parties, and facilitate any special needs, including health and education, of the juvenile;

7) supervise and assist a juvenile on probation;

8) take into custody any children, juveniles, or minors pursuant to paragraph (A)(1); and

9) regularly oversee and visit juveniles in placement facilities.

C. Training. No later than one year after being appointed or employed, a juvenile probation officer shall be trained on:

1) the Juvenile Act;

2) the Pennsylvania Rules of Juvenile Court Procedure;

3) the Child Protective Services Law (CPSL); and

4) any local procedures.

COMMENT

Pursuant to paragraph (A)(1), a juvenile probation officer has the authority to take children, juveniles, and minors into custody pursuant to the CPSL, the Juvenile Act, a bench warrant, or an order of the President Judge of each judicial district or his or her designee. 23 Pa.C.S. §6301 et seq. and 42 Pa.C.S. § 6301 et seq.

When a juvenile is under the court's supervision, the juvenile probation officer may take a juvenile into custody pursuant to the Juvenile Act, 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6304(a)(5) and 6324(2) and (5), and bench warrants as set forth in Rules 140, 141, and 1140.

When a child, juvenile, or minor is not under the court's supervision, the juvenile probation officer may act as a duly authorized officer and take a child, juvenile, or minor into custody pursuant to the Child Protective Services Law (CPSL), 23 Pa.C.S. § 6315 and the Juvenile Act, 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6304 (a)(3) and 6324(1), (3), & (4).

The President Judge or his or her designee may limit the authority of a juvenile probation officer. The President Judge should consider the education, training, and experience of the juvenile probation officer before granting the juvenile probation officer the authority of a duly authorized officer of the court. The juvenile probation officer should be able to exercise discretion when encountering an emergent situation and should be able to take a child into protective custody. For example, the juvenile probation officer may visit a juvenile on probation and encounter a situation when the juvenile or the juvenile's siblings are in imminent danger or are victims of abuse. The juvenile probation officer should be able to take custody of the siblings, in addition to the juvenile on probation, and immediately notify the county agency.

In these situations, it would be the juvenile probation officer's duty to protect the child, juvenile, or minor and remove him or her safely. The juvenile probation officer has authority over a juvenile but may bring a child or minor to the county agency for supervision pending a court order that is to be issued immediately. The juvenile probation officer's duty is enforcement and removal, whereas the county agency's duty is to supervise and identify an appropriate placement for a child or minor. See Rule 1202 and its Comment.

The juvenile probation officer may also assist or supervise a child in the court's protective supervision or care.

Pursuant to paragraph (A)(3), a juvenile probation officer may perform any other function designated by the court or his or her designee to carry out the purposes of the Juvenile Act.

Pursuant to paragraph (B)(1), the juvenile probation officer is to receive written allegations from local law enforcement agencies to determine if a case may proceed to juvenile court. However, pursuant to Rule 231(B), the District Attorney of any county may require initial receipt and approval of written allegations before a delinquency proceeding may be commenced. See Rule 231(B).

Pursuant to paragraph (B)(4) and (5), the juvenile probation officer is to prepare reports compiling the juvenile's information for the court and make the necessary referrals to programs supported by a need revealed during the investigation.

Pursuant to paragraph (B)(6), the juvenile probation officer is to communicate the information to all parties before approaching the court. See Rule 136 for ex parte communication.

Pursuant to paragraph (B)(9), the juvenile probation officer, when acting as a duly authorized officer, may take any child, juvenile, or minor into protective custody, including juveniles not currently on probation, if there is reasonable cause to believe that the child, juvenile, or minor is suffering from illness or injury or is in imminent danger. If the danger does not stem from delinquency charges, the juvenile probation officer is to immediately contact the county agency. For protective custody, see discussion supra, Rule 1210, and 42 Pa.C.S. § 6304.

Pursuant to paragraph (B)(10), the juvenile probation officer is to oversee all juveniles ordered to placement facilities. The juvenile probation officer should visit the placement facilities at least twice a year to determine if: 1) the juvenile is receiving the appropriate treatment; and 2) the facility is meeting the needs of the child. The juvenile probation officer is to report any irregularities or controversies to the court and all parties as soon as they are made known to the juvenile probation officer.

Pursuant to paragraph (C), the juvenile probation officer is to be trained in the Juvenile Act, the Pennsylvania Rules of Juvenile Court Procedure, the CPSL, and any local procedures. The training is to occur within one year of the juvenile probation officer's appointment or employment. It is best practice for juvenile probation officers to receive training within the first ninety days of employment; however, training programs are offered periodically. It is also best practice that juvenile probation officers receive specialized training and educational updates on a continuing basis.

Specialized training for juvenile probation officers should include delinquency and dependency procedures and areas that address their duties as officers of the court.

[14]15) The Act of July 9, 1976, P.L. 586, No. 142, § 2, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6340(c), which provides consent decree shall remain in force for six months unless the child is discharged sooner by probation services with the approval of the court, is suspended only insofar as the Act is inconsistent with the requirement of Rule 373 that a motion for early discharge is to be made to the court.

[15]16) The Act of July 9, 1976, P.L. 586, No. 142, § 2, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6335, which provides for a hearing within ten days of the juvenile's detention unless the exceptions of (a)(1)&(2) or (f) are met, is suspended only insofar as the Act is inconsistent with Rule 391, which provides for an additional ten days of detention if a notice of intent for transfer to criminal proceedings has been filed.

[16]17) The Act of July 9, 1976, P.L. 586, No. 142, § 2, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6353(a), which requires dispositional review hearings to be held at least every nine months, is suspended only insofar as it is inconsistent with the requirement of Rule 610, which requires dispositional review hearings to be held at least every six months when a juvenile is removed from the home.

* * *

JUVENILE PROBATION OFFICER is a person who has been appointed by the court or employed by a county's juvenile probation office, who is properly commissioned by being sworn in as an officer of the court to exercise the powers and duties set forth in Rule 195 and the Juvenile Act.

* * *

COMMENT

For the family service plan, see 55 Pa. Code § 3130.61

A "juvenile probation officer" is an officer of the court. "Properly commissioned" as used in the definition of a juvenile probation officer includes the swearing in under oath or affirmation and a document or order of the court memorializing the authority conferred upon the juvenile probation officer by the court. In addition, the powers granted by the commission are to be specified by the President Judge of each judicial district.

The President Judge may enact a local rule specifying the authority granted by the commission or that specifically lists the authority granted to specific juvenile probation officers or class of juvenile probation officers. For example, a supervisory juvenile probation officer may have more authority than a new juvenile probation officer, or a juvenile probation officer who has completed specific training may have more authority than officers who have not received training.

As a part of the authority conferred upon the juvenile probation officer, the President Judge of each judicial district or his or her designee may authorize the juvenile probation officer to be a duly authorized officer to take not only delinquent children into custody but perform any other functions designated by court order. This may include taking a child, juvenile, or minor into custody pursuant to a bench warrant or protective custody order, or there are reasonable grounds to believe that the child, juvenile, or minor: 1) is suffering from an illness or injury, or is in imminent danger from his or her surroundings, necessitating removal; or 2) has run away from his parents, guardian, or other custodian. See 42 Pa.C.S. §§ 6304(a) and 6324 for authority of a duly authorized officer.

Pursuant to Rule 800, 42 Pa.C.S. § 6324 is suspended only insofar as it is inconsistent with this Rule, which requires the President Judge of each judicial district to designate whether a juvenile probation officer is a duly authorized officer of the court.

The definition of "law enforcement officer" does not give the power of arrest to any person who is not otherwise given that power by law.

RULE 1202. PROCEDURES FOR PROTECTIVE CUSTODY BY POLICE AND COUNTY AGENCY

A. Protective custody.

1) No court order.

- a) A police officer or a juvenile probation officer when duly authorized by the court may take a child into protective custody pursuant to Rule 1200 if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the child is suffering from illness or injury or is in imminent danger from the surroundings and removal is necessary.

* * *

2) Court order.

- a) A police officer, juvenile probation officer, or county agency may obtain a protective custody order removing a child from the home pursuant to Rule 1210 if the court finds that remaining in the home is contrary to the welfare and the best interests of the child.

* * *

COMMENT

Pursuant to Rules 120, 195, and 1120, a juvenile probation officer may be considered a duly authorized officer for purposes of these rules if the President Judge of a judicial district or his or her designee has granted such authority to the juvenile probation officer. Rules 800(7) and 1800(6) suspend § 6324 of the Juvenile Act, which authorizes law enforcement officers to take a child into custody, only insofar as the Act is inconsistent with this Rule, which provides authority for police officers and juvenile probation officers when duly authorized to take a child, juvenile, or minor into custody. See Comment to Rule 195.

Under paragraph (A)(1)(a) & (A)(2)(a), the police officer's or juvenile probation officer's duty is to protect the child and remove the child safely. A police officer or juvenile probation officer may bring the child to the county agency for supervision of the child pending a court order that should be given immediately. The police officer's or juvenile probation officer's duty is enforcement and removal, whereas the county agency's duty is to supervise the child and find an appropriate placement for the child. Only a police officer or duly authorized juvenile probation officer may take custody of the child. See Rule 1800 for suspension of 42 Pa.C.S. § 6324, which provides that law enforcement officers may take a child into custody. [See Rule 1120 for definition of police officer, which may include a probation officer exercising their power of arrest when authorized by law.]
